

M. Ward - Blake's View (Play bar chords if underscored)

(A) Death is just a door, (C#m) Blake said it first
It's just (A) another room we enter, it's a (E7) threshold that hurts
(A) Birth is just a chorus, (C#7) death is just a verse
In the (D) great song of spring that the (D7) mockingbirds sing

(A) We come and we go, (C#m) a-weeping and a-wailing
Our (F#m) heads in the hands of the (A7) nurse
Well, (A) put your head on my shoulder, baby, (C#m) tell me where it hurts
You say you (D) lost your one and only, could it (D7) get any worse?

I said, (A) Death is just a door, you'll be (D) reunited (E) on the other side (A)

(A) (G#m) (F#m) (E) X2

(A) Birth is just a chorus, (C#7) death is just a verse
In the (D) great song of spring that the (D7) mockingbirds sing
(A) We come and we go, (C#m) a-weeping and a-wailing
Our (F#m) heads in the hands of the (A7) nurse
Well, (A) put your head on my shoulder, baby, (C#m) tell me where it hurts
You say you (D) lost your one and only, could it possibly (D7) get any worse?

(A) Death is just a door, you'll be (D) reunited (E) on the other side (A)

(F#m) (A)

I said, (A) Death is just a door, you'll be (D) reunited (E) on the other side (A)
Yeah, death is just a door, you'll be (Dm) reunited (E) by and by (A)
